Subject: Call for Submission of International Cases in the Sensation Method in Homeopathy

Homeopathic Medical Publishers is proud to announce the newest project created by Dr Rajan Sankaran and Ana Klikovac, to publish a book titled:

„The Sensation Method in Homeopathy: A Collection of International Cases“

Homeopathic Medical Publishers is calling for a collection of case studies in using the Sensation Method in Homeopathy, contributed by authors from different countries, to compose a book in English language, which will be edited and harmonized by its Editors.

THE INCENTIVES FOR THIS PROJECT

The foundations for the start of this project were formed in May 2019, during dr Sankaran’s first visit to Zagreb, Croatia, where Ana Klikovac organized and hosted his seminar. During his visit, Ana and dr. Sankaran discussed many ideas for the advancement of homeopathy and the Sensation Method. One of the ideas Ana recently presented to dr Sankaran was this one – to jointly prepare a book which will be the collection of best cases in Sensation Method, from all parts of the World.

Dr Sankaran has published many books about the Sensation method, and traveled around the world in his endeavors to spread this method further and wider. Many homeopaths are travelling to India to study the Sensation Method in homeopathy, where dr Sankaran himself, together with his faculty, are teaching this advanced and well know method.

Ana also studied The Sensation Method at ‘The Other Academy’ in Mumbai, India. She is teaching this method, as well as classical homeopathy and Organon, both in India and in her homeland of Croatia, where she is running a homeopathic academy in collaboration with ‘The Other Song’ Academy.

ABOUT SENSATION METHOD

The Sensation Method is the modern approach to taking and solving cases in Homeopathy, developed by dr Rajan Sankaran, which is primarily based on Classical Homeopathy, but with a new approach to clients and individualization of cases.

Dr Sankaran discovered that the mind and body are connected with a common sensation, which runs through all the spheres of patient’s life, all his complaints, his/hers general state, as well as hobbies, interest, verbal and non-verbal expressions.

This method is based on the classification of homeopathic remedies to 3 main kingdoms: mineral, plant and animal kingdom. The use of nosodes, sarcodes, and other groups of remedies are also considered in this method.

A special contribution of dr Sankaran to homeopathy was the new theory on Miasms, where he added new miasms to homeopathic practice (Acute, Typhoid, Lepra, Ringworm, etc), with a total of ten miasms.

Dr Sankaran’s development of Levels of Experience in homeopathy helps the homeopaths to better understand the client’s perspective and choose the potency with greater confidence and certainty.

All this composes the Sensation Method – a unique, logical and simple way of case solving, which is already used for many years by numerous homeopaths around the world. As it was reported countless times by international homeopaths writing to dr Sankaran, or talking about their experiences in using the Sensation method, some cases would never be solved successfully with any other method but the Sensation method. Some remedies would never be considered during repertorisation process, and would never be prescribed if this method was not used. To put it simple, when you are using this method, you are confident that the remedy chosen is the correct one!

Ana's idea was to present to the entire homeopathic and medical community, as well as general public, the current worldwide reach of this method in homeopathic practice. It should be well known and clear that this method has already been used in all parts of the world, and that it has helped many! So, with this book, we hope to show the world the far and wide reach of this method, and to present the successful stories of homeopaths who actively use this method in practice and thus achieve great results!
